

28 National newspapers joined in the row, all backing Mr Crundall.

Eventually past and present Members of Parliament wrote to the President of the Board of Trade asking for Councillor Crundall to be returned to the Board. But to no avail.

So Major Dickson*, one of the two Members of Parliament for Dover, tabled a question in the House of Commons when the President of the Board of Trade admitted he did not realise Mr Steriker Finnis, vice-chairman of the Board, also had contracts with the railways. But the President pointed out that Mr Steriker Finnis was not appointed by the Board of Trade so his continuing to sit on the Harbour Board was nothing to do with him.

Again the Liberal government did nothing and local feeling against Lord Granville grew apace over the insult offered to the popular Councillor Crundall.

So much so that a big dinner was held in Dover Town Hall when Councillor Crundall was the chief guest and many were the tributes paid to him. Mr Crundall revealed he had hoped to persuade Dover Harbour Board not to hand over a £4,400 surplus to the government to help pay for a larger Dover harbour, to open up Board meetings to the press and the public, and to sell the leases of sea front houses to the tenants and give the revenue to Dover in order to widen Biggin Street.

No wonder the majority of the Board was not in favour of that!

Many suggestions were made in Dover, in the national press and in Parliament that if the Liberal's decision was not reversed there were likely to be sweeping changes in the membership of the Board if and when a Conservative government returned to power.

* Major A.G. Dickson and Mr C.K. Freshfield (Conservatives) were joint MPs for Dover until the Parliamentary Re-distribution Act which reduced Dover to a one-Member constituency. In 1885 Major Dickson was elected, defeating Mr R. Murray Lawes (Liberal) of Old Park, while Mr Freshfield retired.

Membership Secretary

AUTUMN 1997

Our membership stands at 430, slightly more than this time last year. We have both gained and lost about 30 members but the overall trend is upward. While it is inevitable that many members can maintain contact only through our Newsletter, we continue to hope that all members who come to meetings will feel equally at home. Name badges are being worn by the committee members, so please introduce yourselves, especially if you have recently joined.

Warm thanks to those who supply prizes and buy tickets for our raffles; proceeds in winter contribute largely towards the hire charges of St. Mary's hall. We also organised raffles on our three main outings this summer, raising £77.50, which the committee agreed to make up to £100, as our contribution to the Friends of Dover Hospital. We were unable to man a stall at the fête because the date clashed with our outing to Le Touquet.

Congratulations to Mrs. Janet Johnston who was awarded the MBE in the Queen's Birthday Honours list. Members who have received similar honours in recent years are Mrs. Joan Dobby, Mr. Derek Leach and Mr. Terry Sutton.

We welcome to our membership: The Rev'd Father Gary Gill, Mr. D. Iron, Mr. J. Aylen and Mrs. S. Allen, Mr. & Mrs. W. Worsley, Mr. & Mrs. P. Sheldrake and Mrs W. T. Westwater.
