

Kent Past...

...THE LOCAL HISTORY MAGAZINE

— Introducing Kent's First History Magazine —

Kent has a large number of history groups, clubs, museums and societies, all chipping away in archives, trying to find another piece of the puzzle to complete the picture that is our past. Unfortunately, when this information has been gathered it tends to stay within the group, as there is no platform upon which it can be shared.

'Kent Past' is a free monthly magazine, for the members and by the members of the many history organisations within the county. It is a showcase, and an opportunity, for articles and reports to be displayed.

The magazine promotes the various societies and museums in the county with monthly listings of talks, trips and visits, together with follow up reports, of the event. We believe, by highlighting the various clubs and their activities, an interest in Kent's history, can be revived.

'Kent Past', which is designed to complement your newsletter, is FREE to all members of every history society, club, group and museum in the county and as funding is through sponsorship, grants and donations, there is no charge to your organisation.

To make the magazine a success, we need your support, so please register your interest at www.kentpast.co.uk. We ask for no other commitment, than a desire to share Kent's Past.

For more information and to download a sample magazine please visit the 'Kent Past' website at www.kentpast.co.uk.
